To whom it may concern,

Sean Edelstein represented me in the sale of my business. I can categorically state that I have never regretted that decision for one moment. Sean's performance was above and beyond what anyone could hope for in a business broker.

Selling my business posed particularly difficult challenges. Most brokers would probably not accept it in the first place. Sean met the challenge and guided me through with diligence and professionalism. Sean started by preparing a well researched and well presented sales package and maintained that same thoroughness and creativity in order to find me prospective buyers.

Sean has excellent business sense and always skillfully explained both the positive benefits and negative exposure of every prospect. He instinctively knows the best way to lead a potential sales transaction. I found Sean to be honest, patient, loyal and thorough. He considered all the business risks and opportunities from my point of view. He always looked after my interests.

Probably one of the best compliments I can give Sean is that all the potential buyers I dealt with also found Sean to be reasonable, responsive, knowledgeable and skilled.

I do highly recommend Sean to anyone considering selling or buying a business. There are many difficult decisions to make in this process. I assure you that choosing Sean as your business broker will help you make the best possible decisions.

Yours truly,
