

7/15/08

Prudential Business Sales

Dear Mr. Joe Liuzzi,

A great sales professional is a very good sign of a great company. There is one such professional in your company. His name is Sean Edelstein. He has been a tremendous help to me and family, in selling our restaurant. Soft spoken, calm, patient and always on time are the words to describe Sean for the countless phone calls and few meetings that we have had with him. It is because of him that I too have adjusted my sales presentations to my clients and am benefiting from this change. My only wish would be to work with more companies like yours that have sales professionals like him and to find people like him to work for me. Truly this shows that you treat your sales associates with respect and dignity and they in turn reward and return the favor to you by providing the best customer service in the business to your customers.

Thank you,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'A. Faraz', with a long, sweeping flourish extending to the right.

Ali Faraz