Dear Mr. Edelstein,

I wanted to take the time to thank you for your efforts in the sale of my company StentCil Inc. With the technical nature of our business, and because the business of laser systems in general is such a specialized business, I did not expect the number nor quality of prospective purchasers that you were able to provide.

I appreciated your patience in guiding me through the entire sale process. Your explanation and advice were both clear and logical. During the entire process you demonstrated the ability to look after the interest of myself, and the group purchasing my company. I believe that this attitude is the reason that the sale of my company was concluded as quickly as it was.

Should the occasion again arise I will not hesitate to ask for your assistance in the sale or purchasing of another company. And I will strongly recommend to others that, should they be looking to sell or purchase a business, they take advantage of the experience and skills that you demonstrated in the sale of my company.

Sincerely,
